PRZEMYSL IN PERIL

STRONGHOLD TAKEN BY RUSSIANS MAY FALL AGAIN

ALLIES GAIN IN WEST

Entente Reports Progress Over Teutons on France Line—Germans Cross San River in Poland.

London, May 28.—Amid the activities on land and sea and in the air, from the Dardanelles to the waters around the British Isles, middle Galicia remains the zone of the greatest and most important fighting. There the Austrians and Germans continue to batter at the Russian lines to the northeast and southeast of Przemysl, and, according to reports which have been confirmed by official statements, they have severed communications between the Austrian fortress and Lemberg.

Przemysl Surrounded.

If these reports are true, Przemysl, which less than three months ago was taken by the Russians after a long siege, is again surrounded. It would appear, however, that while the Teutonic allies are pressing very hard on the fortress they have not yet forged the circle, the completion of which is being stubbornly opposed by the Russians.

The Germans have forced another crossing of the San river eleven miles north of Przemysl and have extended by several miles the zone held by them east of the San. To the southeast they also claim to have broken the Russian lines and to have taken some important positions.

Despite all these claims, Petrograd announces with the greatest optimism and belief that the Russian reinforcements will be able to stem the Austro-German onslaught.

Allies Report Advances.

In the west the French and British report further advances, which are generally denied by the Germans. The latter, who themselves have made another air raid on South End, make no reference to the French statement that eighteen French airmen flew over Ludwigshafen, and dropping bombs, set fire to a chemical works, which had been engaged in manufacturing operations for the German war office since the outbreak of the war.

The allies report continued progress of their operations against the Turks on the Gallipoli peninsula. During the armistice which the Turks asked for they buried many more than 3,000 dead, while the British gathered up no less than 1,200 Turkish rifles—proof that the Turkish losses have been extremely heavy.

These losses were sustained in terrific counter attacks delivered against the positions, which the allies had strongly fortified. The Turks came under the fire of the ships at the same time.

Allies' Losses Heavy.

The repulse of these counter attacks and the carrying out of attacks by the allies themselves have resulted in considerable losses on the allied side, to which must now be added the losses sustained by the sinking of the battleships Triumph and Majestic.

The Italians continue their offensive on the frontiers of the Tyrol and Trentino and Istria and have taken a chain of important positions, but they have not yet come into contact with the main Austrian forces, which are waiting for them behind entrenchments.

STORM DOES DAMAGE AT ELMO.

Wind Came 12 Years After Fatal One —Masonic Building Wall Falls.

Just within one day of twelve years after the storm or tornado which visited Elmo, resulting in five deaths in 1903, Elmo was again visited by a wind storm, as was other parts of the county, Wednesday, which did considerable damage to trees. The Elmo Register says the south wall of the Masonic building, which burned last winter and is being rebuilt, collapsed during the storm and that trees, telegraph and telephone poles and several small buildings were blown down or damaged.

A miniature tornado swept northwest of town, tearing trees down on the Fred James place and otherwise damaging property. A small barn was swept away at Earl Hopper's place.

Elmo Man Trades Farms.

Granville Peery has traded his 120-acre farm, four miles northeast of Elmo, for an 80-acre farm, about four miles west of Hopkins.

RIVERS OVERFLOW

NODAWAY, PLATTE AND 102 FLOOD LOWLANDS IN COUNTY.

NO DANGER APPARENT

Reports Upstream Indicate Crest Is Nearly Reached—Corn Damaged at Quitman—Over Road Here.

The crest of the rise in the various rivers of Nodaway county, appears to be nearly reached and little damage is reported anywhere except at Quitman, where some newly planted corn in the bottoms was washed out. No buildings are reported damaged nor anyone threatened. The 102 river east of Maryville at 2 o'clock this afternoon had overflowed the banks and was running several inches deep over the state road between the channel bridge and the steel bridge spanning the main channel.

It was still rising slowly but the absence of any more drift coming down indicated that the crest was nearly reached. At Pickering, the river was slightly out of its banks in some of the low places at 2 o'clock this afternoon. At Hopkins it was still rising at the same hour, and was stretching over the lowland to some width, but not very deep.

Last Night's Fall to Come.

Reports from the southern line of Iowa this morning, indicated that the flood waters were at a stand still and unless further rains came, a fall would begin tonight.

The Platte river is bank full and flooding some of the low lands, but only slightly, reports at 2 o'clock from Ravenwood, Conception Junction and Parnell, indicated. It was still rising slowly.

The Nodaway river was slightly more than bank full at Quitman and Burlington Junction this afternoon, but very shallow over the bottom land it had flooded. A slight rise was reported all morning.

The rain last night will likely raise the rivers slightly tonight through Nodaway county but not enough, it is believed, to bring about any appreciable damage.

Pneumonia heads the list of causes of death for the quarter with 2,047, tuberculosis next with 1,289, diseases of the heart and circulatory system 1,203.

There were 17,622 births reported as having occurred during the quarter, of which 9,083 were males and 8,592 were females, 17,081 of them being whites and 541 negroes. It will be noted that there were 6,536 more births than deaths during the quarter.

Township Assessors of County Meet Here Tomorrow to "Get Together" on Assessments.

A special meeting of the fifteen township assessors of Nodaway county will be held in the county court room of the court house beginning at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, to consider property assessments. Members of the county court also may attend the conference. It at least is Presiding Judge W. M. Blackford's intentions to meet with the assessors.

"The general purpose of the meeting," said E. E. Tilton, Polk township assessor this morning, "is to arrive at a definite basis on which to assess both personal and real estate property in the various townships. Some have a basis of about one-fourth and others of one-third, which makes it more liable to errors or indications of partiality."

It is not the purpose of the assessors to increase valuations, but merely to fix some standard by which to go this spring and summer when the assessments for the 1916 taxes are made.

The assessors in the various townships of Nodaway countyare: Atchison, George Benthene; Grant, Glen Mehaffey; Green, Henry O'Riley; Hopkins, Clyde Melvin; Hughes, George Greason; Independence, George Hepburn; Jackson, William F. Sawyer; Jefferson, John Martindale; Lincoln, M. E. Russell; Monroe, E. D. French; Nodaway, Holmes Yates; Polk, E. E. Tilton; Union, J. B. Loch; Washington, Scott Lemaster; White Cloud, Earl Vickery.

It is expected that all will attend except Mr. French of Skidmore, who has advised Mr. Tilton that business will detain him.

COUNTY TO SPEND LESS ON BRIDGES

BETWEEN $15,000 AND $18,000 AVAILABLE THIS YEAR.

BEGIN IMPROVEMENTS IN NORTH END, PLAN

One Construction Force Will Start in Union Township—Extra Gang to Washington.

Although the county court will have about $13,000 less this year to expend on bridge and culvert improvements over Nodaway county, than it had last year, when it spent approximately $30,000, it is the plan of the court members to divide this work over the county to do the most good, presiding Judge W. M. Blackford, said this morning. He said the court would have between $15,000 and $18,000 to spend on improvements, and still balance up next fall.

This will necessitate the curbing of expenses as much as possible and the inability of building many bridges and culverts even where needed. Most of the work to be done with the funds available will be in building new culverts. Few steel bridges will be constructed.

Unless the floods now raging in the three rivers of the county, take out some of the structures now spanning these streams, there will be no more river bridges built in Nodaway county this year, Judge Blackford said.

Start in Union Township.

Only one river structure was ordered in by the present court. That was between Clearmont and Elmo, over the Nodaway. No reports of bridges or culverts being destroyed by the present flood waters, have come to Judge Blackford. He expects one or more of the temporary wood structures across the Nodaway river drainage ditch to go, or at least to be damaged.

It is the plan of the county court as soon as the weather permits, to send one bridge construction force to the north part of the county to construct several culverts. The first will be a six-foot culvert one mile south of Pickering. The next will be two smaller culverts in the southwest part of Hopkins township.

Send Extra Force to Washington.

The construction force will then skip over to Independence township thence to Jackson township, and then to Jefferson township, Judge Blackford announced.

Another extra force of men will be sent direct to Washington township in the southeast corner of the county, to construct several bridges and culverts this summer. Those planned by the county court in that township are:

Over Turkey creek near the Wallace Moore farm, a 36-foot bridge.

A 20-foot bridge with twelve-foot approaches on each side over Clear Creek near the Pleasant View school.

East of the J. E. Ballard farm a 30-foot span with concrete backing over Turkey creek.

A concrete culvert, 4x4x24 feet.

A 25-foot span with a 12-foot approach on one side over Hickory creek, a mile east of the Whiteford school.

The county court will meet again, Monday, June 7, to consider bridge needs and to probably complete the county tour to inspect bridge needs.

Miss Winnifred Carpenter has returned from Bethany where she had been a teacher in the schools.

GIRL OF 15 WON ESSAY PRIZE.

Mildred Orr, Braymer, Who Won Contest Here, Praised for Essay.

The Kansas City Star in Thursday's issue had the following from Braymer: In the Northwest Missouri high school contest recently held at Maryville the gold medal for essays was won by Miss Mildred Orr, of this town, 15 years old, and a junior in the high school. She is the oldest of a family of five children. Her parents live on a rented farm, and since leaving the district school to attend high school in town she has worked for her board. From her first day in the district school she has never been tardy.

She won out over all pupils of Northwest Missouri, including the schools of St. Joseph, Trenton, Maryville and Chillicothe. Her essay was sent with the others to a committee of judges in Illinois and was judged on its merits. It has been criticized by teachers of long experience in such work who pronounce it of much merit and at the same time showing that it is the product of an immature mind and not written by the school faculty, as sometimes happens in these contests. The subject of her essay was "The Oneness of Interest Between Town and Rural Life."

MEMORIAL DAY AT CLEARMONT.

Sermon to be Given by Rev. N. E. Bottom — Fourteen Graves of Old Soldiers.

The decoration address will be delivered at 2:30 p. m., Sunday, after which the old comrades and friends will go to the cemetery and strew flowers on the graves of the old soldiers. Last year there were 13 graves of old soldiers in the Clearmont cemetery and one more has been added since then, that of A. M. Scott.

FOR M. U. FARM EXTENSION

Missouri Farmers Will Gain Much From the $150,072 Congress Appropriated.

With $150,072 available for extension work during the next two years, the College of Agriculture of the University of Missouri is beginning a campaign on the largest scale ever attempted in this state, to "take the college to the people, says the University Missourian.

The fund comes as a result of the Smith-Lever act fathered in the house of representatives by Representative Lever and in the senate by Senator Hoke Smith and signed by the President May 8, 1914. Each state receives $10,000 a year. In addition a sum is divided among the states on the basis of their relative rural population.

To receive this latter fund the state legislature must appropriate an equal amount. Missouri's share for the next two years was $65,036, and the legislature met the requirements. Before any of the Smith-Lever fund or any of the money appropriated by the state legislature to mee the requirements of the Smith-Lever act can be used, the plans of expenditure must be approved by the United States department of agriculture.

U. S. Wants to Know Details.

These plans are spoken of as "extension projects" and each project outlines in detail just how the work will be carried on, who will do the work, how much money will be used for salaries, for traveling expenses, for equipment, office supplies and so on.

The government of the United States will expend $23,120,000 during the next nine years in the advancement of agricultural interests. If Missouri's legislature continues to fulfill the conditions, the College of Agriculture will receive an increasing sum for extension work.

The agricultural extension service of the College of Agriculture has under consideration nine different projects. The carrying out of these projects will mean a big increase in the work of the extension department, which was organized June 8, 1914, with four men giving their entire time to the work.

Since that time eight extension workers have been added; two others have been appointed to begin work during the present summer and one other position is open. In addition to this number the agricultural extension service includes fifteen county agricultural agents (farm advisers), with one supervising.

Attention to Dairying.

Of the nine projects under consideration the development of dairying is to receive particular attention. This is in recognition of the fact that Missouri is passing through a stage of development in its agriculture which has characterized all of the states north and east—that is, a gradual changing from grain-raising to dairying. The working up of proper sentiment in order to make dairying acceptable to Missouri farmers is one of the first functions of the project.

The project of moveable schools of agriculture and home economics provides for a school of from two to five days' duration at any point in the state where interest is sufficient to justify the work.

In contrast to the plan pursued by some other states, the Missouri College of Agriculture proposes to send a small number of workers to lecture and demonstrate at the schools, permitting each to go thoroughly into a subject, rather than have a larger number barely touch on a number of topics.

By means of permanent community clubs practical demonstration will be given, so extension activities of various kinds can be carried on through the officers of these organizations. The plan proposes that there will be organized in each county three or more clubs. By this arrangement a relatively large number of people can be reached at little expense.

For Practical Demonstration.

A fourth project provides for practical demonstrations on farms, starting with phases of farm work in the community where special problems are to be solved and organizing the work in such a way that when the desired result is accomplished the entire community can be present on the farm where the work is in progress in order to see it at first hand.

Through the field insect control project, farmers will be instructed in control methods. Demonstrations will be given in the field whenever insect pests are at work and campaigns of instruction will be carried on in the sections of the state where surveys reveal the likelihood of later outbreaks.

In every community where the orchard interests justify the work, an orchard will be selected for demonstration purposes and at the proper season the farmers of the community who have orchards will be invited to come to receive instruction in proper methods of pruning and spraying.

Blue Prints Supplied.

The furnishing of blue prints, plans and specifications for farm buildings, and especially silos, constitutes a project developing from a demand for helping in building silos. As proposed, it is to include the building of water tanks, gates, fences and all kinds of farm construction.

The boys' and girls' club work department is devised to give instruction of farm boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 18 years along lines that will turn their attention to the farm and the home.

So widely has the swine industry developed in Missouri that a project for the eradication of hog cholera meets with particularly great favor because the work is immediately translatable into dollars and cents. A thorough system of education along this line is planned.

NEW GAME AND FISH LAWS.

County Clerk to Have Copies For Distribution to Public.

Jefferson City, May 28.—The new game and fish laws have been printed by State Game and Fish Commissioner Jesse B. Jones and have been sent out to the county clerks of the state for distribution to hunters and fishermen and other interested parties.

The first open season under the new law is for killing squirrels. This season opens next Tuesday, June 1st, and continues the remainder of the year. Hunters should take out their license this week and be prepared to hunt squirrels when the season opens. Reports received here are that the squirrels are plentiful. There is no closed season on rabbits but licenses are required to hunt them.

There are some important changes in the fish laws. Shooting of fish, hand, log or rock fishing are prohibited at all times. Gigging is permitted during certain months but no gigged fish can be sold. Fishing with ordinary hook and line, natural and artificial bait and trout line, is permitted at all times. Seigning with two-inch mesh seine is permitted in the Missouri and Mississippi rivers except during April and May. July, August and September are the months for landowners and those who get permission to seine unnavigable streams.

The short fish law is an important one. Hotels, restaurants and fish dealers are made liable under that law if they have any undersized fish in their possession. The penalty for selling such undersized fish is a fine of $10 to $200 and $1 for each undersized fish sold or had in possession for sale. Any fish caught can be eaten but the law fixes the length which certain fish must be to be sold.

One of the last bills passed by the sixty-third congress and signed by President Wilson fixed a standard barrel for fruits, vegetables and other dry commodities. It means an end to misunderstandings—the producer will know what he is selling and the consumer will know what he is buying. The standard barrel will contain 7,056 cubic inches.

ITALIANS AT MONFALCONE

Are Now Within Thirty Miles of Seaport of Trieste.

Geneva, May 28.—A strong Italian advance guard crossed the Isonzo river, after a sharp fight with an Austrian force, and arrived before the town of Monfalcone which is thirty miles from the Austrian seaport of Trieste. The first of the Austrian wounded are now arriving at the latter place.

The Italians also attacked at several points along the forty miles of Corinthian frontier. A battle between the Italians and Austrians is raging around Pioken and also west of the Praedil pass in Austria In Adige the fighting has been limited to skirmishes. Italian forces which penetrated the Tyrol at Cardino and other Italian arms which captured Cormons have reconstructed the railway and are now marching on Corz the capital of the Austrian crownland of Goiz and Gradisca. Both the Austrian and Italian aviation spies are very active along the frontier.

German Official Report.

Berlin, May 28.—The German army headquarters issued the following statement: "Regardless of their great failures of May 25, the French repeated their attempts to break through our lines between Vermelle and the Lorette hills. Strong forces were brought forward for a storm attack along a narrow stretch of six miles, but the attacking force everywhere was repulsed. We are in full possession of our positions. An uncommonly large number of fallen Frenchmen are lying in front of our trenches. An air attack was successfully carried out by us on the fortifications at South End, on the lower Thames."

Something New in Town From "The Land of the Long Leaf Pine"

An "Outside" Treatment That Relieves Croup and Cold Troubles Quicker Than Internal Medicines—Applied Externally, It Is Inhaled as a Vapor and Absorbed Through the Skin.

Druggists Below Are Selling 25c. Jars on 30-Days' Trial—Money Back if Not Delighted.

Every year thousands of people, suffering from forms of lung trouble, make a pilgrimage to the pine barrens of North Carolina, "the land of the long leaf pine." The reason lies in the warm dry air, spicy with the odor of the long leaf pines.

Local druggists, however, have recently received a treatment that is almost as good as a trip South. This is Vick's "Vap-O-Rub" Salve, the invention of a North Carolina druggist. When applied over the throat and chest the body heat releases vapors of Menthol, Camphor, Pine Oil, Thyme, and Eucalyptus, that are inhaled with each breath through the air passages to the lungs, loosening the phlegm, and soothing the inflamed membrane. In severe cases, first apply hot wet towels to open the pores. Vick's is then absorbed through the skin, taking out that tightness and soreness.

The progressive druggists, listed below, are anxious that their customers who are troubled with asthma, catarrh, bronchitis, tonsilitis, or any form of cold trouble, should try this new treatment, though their profit on Vick's is smaller than on internal medicines. They are, therefore, offering Vick's in three sizes, 25c, 50c or $1.00, on 30 days' trial, giving with each sale a refund blank, good for your money back if you are not delighted.

CORN GROWING.

What A. R. Hills of Maryville Writes About How to Grow Corn.

A. R. Hills of Maryville issued his second letter on corn raising this week and sent it to his corn raising class, consisting of 80 boys and girls over the county. The following is what he writes:

It is now a very opportune time to begin the real study of the corn plant.

In the majority of fields of Nodaway county the young plants are probably a finger length high and exposed to view are three blades, with roots to correspond, being about fourteen inches in length.

One skilled in the science of botany would observe the endogenous manner of growing, the shape of the blades, with their parallel veins, the fibrous root growth, and at once decide to put the plant in the family of grasses.

It is not my intention to write of the plant from a botanical standpoint but to speak of it in a practical sort of a way for the benefit of the young corn raiser.

Nowadays the successful business man must know all the minor details of his business in order to succeed.

The machinist or engineer must know every identical piece and where it belongs of the machine in his care in order to be called a successful handler of the same.

So it is with the farmer. We observe lands and rents getting higher and higher, so a single false step, although it does not seriously affect the one making it, just the same it affects others, as the farmer feeds them all. A loss through ignorance, though small, in the aggregate throughout the county would be stupendous.

Many of us learn to finger the organ, but when you tear the instrument apart and observe the manufacturer's contrivances to give the tones, pitch, power or cadence, you can then at once see why you have been failing to give the music expression or feeling.

So it is in the study of the corn plant. We should begin at the ground (or rather at the furrow bottom) and study to the tassel point. Now we are in the habit of calling the entire heart of the grain the germ or embryo, but in reality the embryo is a little tiny spot at the base of the heart from which growth originates, all other of the grain is but feed for the young plantlets.

If we would examine corn (the weather being favorable) the second day after planting, we probably find the skin raised just a little over the heart and the point of the grain a little blunter than before, then again on the third or fourth day we may expect to see two or three roots a half inch long or more, having broken from the point of the grain and started downward at an angle, at the same time the sprout having pushed forward, bursting the skin and is even with the crown of the grain. Then we find on the fifth or sixth day that another bunch of roots have burst from the point of the grain and started off in a parallel direction from the point of the grain, generally back from the heart or face of the grain, meantime the sprout has increased materially in size and length, and will make its appearance on the surface on the seventh or eighth day. After this the plants having roots in the damp soil and a sprout in the air and sunshine will grow very rapidly, soon having three leaves or blades.

The plant is now in good condition to study the underground part. We readily see that the plant by nature is calculated to have three joints under ground, the lower one being tapered to a point at the bottom, with a few roots from the extreme point. Now watching these roots we find them to be calculated to merely anchor the plant safely to the ground till the other gets a hold. So these roots are called primary roots and as their usefulness is soon over they die. Now we have three joints, practically speaking, below the surface, from which a great many roots may spring which grow very rapidly. Seek the bottom of the furrow pan and cling to it very tenaciously, growing similar to the ivy that scales the wall. By the time the corn is knee high we expect the roots to reach over to the third row, or twelve feet. These roots just spoken of are called secondary roots, and seem to make it their work to produce just the stalk, not including the ear. If the air is cool and the days cloudy the stalk does not make much progress, but these roots continue their rampant growing, and not being satisfied with the dwarf stalk above they soon force out suckers to keep the proper balance. These suckers grow according to the weather and the food supply and at earing time oftime exceed the parent stalk in size. There not being a food supply or water sufficient, all produce nubbins or no grain at all. To obviate this condition one should plow corn up to the time it is knee high as deeply as possible, using long pointed shovels so as to destroy the effect of these roots, as grain is what we want in place of fodder. The principle is the same as a fruit tree growing of very fertile soil, it grows so rank, the wood does not mature so as to produce fruit buds, so we go about to cripple the tree by cutting the roots or pruning in the month of June. The plan of nature seems to be when any thing is crippled unto death it shall go about the work of reproducing itself rapidly. Making use of this principle the writer has grown large yields of corn without a single barren stalk.

I do not wish to be misunderstood that root pruning should be practiced after the corn is 20 inches high, but the contrary, we should use surface working tools so as to cover the first and second joints. This insures darkness and moisture about the joints so they send out many roots, that spread through the mulch previously made, which is in fine condition to produce the ear, the soil, feed, and rain are ample and favorable for these surface roots we may expect a bumper crop. I wish you to watch your corn closely and write me about the same, or call and tell me as some are doing. At the end of the season I shall send you a blank asking 161 questions. Now if you study well you can answer most of them.

LETTER TO MR. J. K. SAWYERS. Maryville, Mo.

Dear Sir: Thomas J. Bannon, druggist, Westerly, R. I., says:

Westerly painters expect a gallon of paint to cover 19 sets of blinds; Devoe covers 25; there is no such thing as rubbing this out.

(The usual reckoning is for a gallon to cover 16. We suspect the Westerly people don't wear their paint till it gets very shabby.)

Devoe covers more; of course, we know that; we know why too; it's all paint and full-measure.

Yours truly

After 50 Years.

On Friday of last week our County Court was in session at Oregon to receive, open, examine and award the contracts to the successful bidders for the various bridges and concrete culverts, advertised by County Surveyor Peret, to be "let" on that day. Presiding Judge, W. M. Blackford of Nodaway county, was also here and met with our judges. D. C. Stallard, our presiding judge, after he had received an introduction to Judge Blackford, thought the name very familiar, and after comparing notes they both discovered that more than 50 years ago they were boys together, and had attended the same school, played "hookey," marbles, " Bull Pen," and many other pranks in Braddyville, Iowa, and this was their first meeting in over a half century. They certainly did enjoy themselves talking over their boyhood days.—Holt County Sentinel.

TURK TORPEDO SINKS MAJESTIC

Another British Battleship Lost In the Dardanelles.

PRINCESS IRENE DESTROYED.

English Steamer In Government Service Accidentally Blown Up In Sheerness Harbor and 327 Men Perish—One Survivor Is Picked Up.

London, May 28.—The torpedoing and sinking of the British battleship Majestic is announced by the admiralty in the following statement:

"An enemy submarine torpedoed and sank H. M. S. Majestic, Captain H. F. Talbot, while it was supporting the army on the Gallipoli peninsula. Nearly all officers and men saved."

The battleship Majestic was a vessel of 14,900 tons. Its officers and crew aggregated 757.

The Majestic, which was built in 1895, carried four twelve-inch, twelve six-inch and sixteen three-inch guns and twelve three-pounder guns.

The sinking of the Majestic makes the fifth British battleship lost in the Dardanelles campaign and the second by a hostile submarine. The French also have lost one battleship in the Turkish campaign—the Bouvet.

Princess Irene Blown Up.

All the crew of 250 men of the British steamer Princess Irene, except one man, and, in addition, seventy-eight dockers, who were at work on board the steamer, lost their lives when the vessel was blown up by an accidental explosion on board in Sheerness harbor on the Thames. The steamer was in the government service. Several men belonging to vessels lying close to the Princess Irene were wounded by falling splinters.

BECKER WOULD CONFESS

What He May Say About Men Higher Up Will Not Save Him.

New York, May 28.—No possible disclosures of police corruption or revelations of the identity of the man or men higher up in the division of money paid for police protection, no plea Charles Becker can make will save him from the electric chair, if District Attorney Perkins can prevent it, according to announcement made by Mr. Perkins.

In making his announcement Mr. Perkins took official cognizance of a current rumor that Becker, facing death for causing the murder of Herman Rosenthal, was willing to confess all he knows if his life should be spared. Becker's execution is set for the week of July 12.

No appeal for clemency can be made in any case of one properly convicted of murder in the first degree, because of any assistance he might render to the authorities in the prosecution of offenses of a much lower grade, Mr. Perkins said.

BIG BATTLE IN MEXICO

Thousands Killed In Fighting Near Leon—Front Fifteen Miles Long.

Leon, Mex., May 28.—A battle front fifteen miles long, eighty cannon, and 50,000 men charging and counter charging across a plain strewn with dead and wounded. That is the present meeting of Generals Villa and Obregon here in the once peaceful valley of the Rio de Leon.

Both sides have lost heavly in dead and wounded. There is no means of computing the losses other than to say that they extend into the thousands. The opposing factions have each gained and lost advantages. The tide of victory is still flowing back and forth across the battlefield. There has been nothing decisive for either side.

SHELLS ARE RAINED UPON TURKISH TROOPS

Allies Take Gallipoli Positions at Point of Bayonet.

Paris, May 28.—A dispatch from Athens says the action of the allies against the Turkish positions in the Dardanelles straits is continuing vigorously. Reinforcements are constantly being brought up. The Turks appear to be terrorized by the incessant renewal of the attacks. These indicate to them the absolute determination of the allies to force the straits. From time to time the British and French artillery throw a veritable hail of shells on the Turks.

Another message from Athens says the allied forces are continuing their advance on the Gallipoli peninsula. As a result of a bayonet attack they have occupied important positions, where they are now strongly entrenched. The losses of the Turks have been heavy. The aeroplane squadron of the allies is rendering splendid service. The fleet is continuing its bombardment of the Turkish positions night and day.

AIR RAID ON RHINE TOWN

Eighteen French Aeroplanes Drop Bombs on Big Chemical Plant.

Paris, May 28.—A French aerial squadron, composed of eighteen aeroplanes, each carrying 119 pounds of projectiles, bombarded a chemical factory at Ludwigshafen, on the Rhine, opposite Mannheim.

Fire broke out in several of the factory buildings as a result of this bombardment.

This factory is one of the most important manufacturers of explosives in all Germany. The French aviators were in the air for six hours and covered more than 240 miles.

BRITISH SUBMARINE AT CONSTANTINOPLE

London, May 28.—The British admiralty issues the following report from the vice admiral in the eastern Mediterranean:

"The submarine E-11, Lieutenant Commander Martin Enasmith, has sunk in the Sea of Marmora a vessel containing a great quantity of ammunition. It also chased a supply ship with a heavy cargo of stores and torpedoed it alongside a pier at Rodosto. A small store ship was also chased and run ashore. The submarine E-11 entered Constantinople and discharged a torpedo at a transport alongside the arsenal. The torpedo was heard to explode."

ISSUES GOOD ROAD EDICT

Governor Asks County Courts to Set Aside June 15 and 16 for Highway Improvements.

Whereas, the public highways of the state constitute the first link in the chain of transportation; and, whereas, no other internal improvement means so much to the state, the nation and the people; and, whereas, Missouri is and has been leading the way upon this important question, and has more good roads spirit than any state in the union; and, whereas, the two "Good Roads Days" designated in 1913 and 1914 were of great benefit not only to the commonwealth of Missouri, but to the entire country, creating a universal sentiment for the improvement of highways; and, whereas, a large number of the states, observing the benefits we derived from the "Good Roads Days" in Missouri, have followed the example; and, whereas, every citizen and business is directly interested in road construction and betterments:

Now, therefore, I, Elliott W. Major, governor of the state of Missouri, do hereby set apart Tuesday and Wednesday, June 15 and 16, 1915, for road work in the state of Missouri, and designate these two days as "Good Roads Days," and declare same to be holidays and request that all other business be suspended as far as possible, and that every able-bodied citizen labor upon the public highways of the state during these two days, and that the work done be such as will make a lasting and permanent improvement, such as road grading, culvert building, ditching, gravelling, dragging, etc.

I respectfully call upon the county court of each county to issue a proclamation such as was issued last year calling upon the people to come out with proper teams, equipments and materials and labor and see to it that the be given and benefits received in every county is well organized, so work will neighborhood, and the same conducted in a systematic and business-like way, to the end that every section of the commonwealth may be the recipient of actual road betterments.

Asks Women to Cook.

Again, I call upon the city and country press to assist in organizing the work and in bringing to the roads another army of labor volunteers, such as came forth last year. The press contributed, in a great measure, to the success of the work, and the state is indebted to it for the enthusiastic and earnest support given and as chief executive, I desire to recognize the aid given by both the city and country press in this official proclamation. I also call upon the road overseers, federated and all other road organizations, automobile clubs and associations and all commercial and booster clubs to aid the state and the highway department to again carry forward to a great success, the "Good Roads Days."

I request the women of Missouri to again prepare dinners and see that the laborers are served upon the highways. They contributed muc hto the success of the work last year, realizing the fact that better roads would bring a better community life and more pleasure to the women who have cast their fortunes in the homes of rural Missouri.

Let every citizen be earnest, enthusiastic and systematic in going about the preparation for work upon these days. No matter whether the work be done upon high-grade roads or upon dirt roads, let it be a permanent improvement. The great majority of the work will be done upon the dirt roads, which, after all, are the real highways of commerce. This is true because the dirt roads represent the first leg of the journey over which moves the traffic of the state.

The road enabling the producer to bring more products to the first markets of the country; the road that will save hundreds of thousands of dollars in shrinkage in the delivery of live stock; the road that will lessen that part of the cost of transportation which begins at the producer's door; the road every tendency of which is to improve community life and make it better morally, civilly and commercially.

Let us, therefore, labor upon the high-grade roads, and upon the improved and unimproved dirt roads, to the end that no material or energy be lost, and the benefits given to a single unit in highway traffic. Missouri is leading the way in this great internal improvement and upon which must rest, in the final analysis, the success of every business of the country. Good roads will bring better schools, better agriculture, better community life, better commerce, and a better civilization.

ELLIOTT W. MAJOR,
Governor.

MILITIA MUST PAY LOSSES.

Officers Will Be Held Responsible for Missing Government Property.

To put an end to the loss and damage of rifles and other government property issued to the state militias, Secretary Garrison has directed that hereafter all amounts for such losses be deducted from the pay of responsible officers and enlisted men.

This action became necessary because of the increasing loss of federal property and the failure of militiamen properly to care for the equipment. The law provides that all government property issued to the organized militia remains "the property of the United States" and must be annually "accounted for by the governor of the state."

FRECKLES

Don't Hide Them With a Veil; Remove Them With the Othine Prescription.

This prescription for the removal of freckles was written by a prominent physician and is usually so successful in removing freckles and giving a clear, beautiful complexion that it is sold by druggists under guarantee to refund the money if it fails.

Don't hide your freckles under a veil; get an ounce of othine and remove them. Even the first few applications should show a wonderful improvement, some of the lighter freckles vanishing entirely.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength othine; it is this that is sold on the money-back guarantee.

To Poison Cutworms.

The cutworm will get your garden truck if you don't watch out, says A. G. Ruggles of the Minnesota Experiment station.

A slightly different formula from the old-fashioned poisoned bran mash was found very effective against grasshoppers in Kansas in 1912. In 1914 this mixture was very successfully used against crickets, army worms and cutworms.

The formula for the Kansas mixture is as follows: Bran, 1 pound; paris green, 1 ounce; syrup, ¼ pint, orange or lemon, ¼ ounce; water, 1½ pints.

Mix the bran and Paris green separately while dry. Squeeze the juice of the orange or lemon into the water, grating the peeling and pulp, and adding this also to the water. Dissolve the syrup in this mixture and wet the poisoned bran, stirring thoroughly. This mash is scattered around the infested areas.

MEMORIAL DAY FLOWERS

The beautiful custom of honoring those who have laid down their lives in sacrifice for the principles for which they fought and showing a tribute to our loved ones departed, by covering their graves with flowers at least once a year is one of the most inspiring and poetic breaks in the busy life of our country and it is a credit that Memorial Day is observed with increasing interest each year. Our selection provides everything suitable for the proper observance of Memorial Day in flowers such as beautiful blooming plants, fresh cut flowers,and lasting wreaths,etc.

PRZEMYSL IN PERIL

STRONGHOLD TAKEN BY RUSSIANS MAY FALL AGAIN

ALLIES GAIN IN WEST

Entente Reports Progress Over Teutons on France Line—Germans Cross San River in Poland.

London, May 28.—Amid the activities on land and sea and in the air, from the Dardanelles to the waters around the British Isles, middle Galicia remains the zone of the greatest and most important fighting. There the Austrians and Germans continue to batter at the Russian lines to the northeast and southeast of Przemysl, and, according to reports which have been confirmed by official statements, they have severed communications between the Austrian fortress and Lemberg.

Przemysl Surrounded.

If these reports are true, Przemysl, which less than three months ago was taken by the Russians after a long siege, is again surrounded. It would appear, however, that while the Teutonic allies are pressing very hard on the fortress they have not yet forged the circle, the completion of which is being stubbornly opposed by the Russians.

The Germans have forced another crossing of the San river eleven miles north of Przemysl and have extended by several miles the zone held by them east of the San. To the southeast they also claim to have broken the Russian lines and to have taken some important positions.

Despite all these claims, Petrograd announces with the greatest optimism and belief that the Russian reinforcements will be able to stem the Austro-German onslaught.

Allies Report Advances.

In the west the French and British report further advances, which are generally denied by the Germans. The latter, who themselves have made another air raid on South End, make no reference to the French statement that eighteen French airmen flew over Ludwigshafen, and dropping bombs, set fire to a chemical works, which had been engaged in manufacturing operations for the German war office since the outbreak of the war.

The allies report continued progress of their operations against the Turks on the Gallipoli peninsula. During the armistice which the Turks asked for they buried, many more than 3,000 dead, while the British gathered up no less than 1,200 Turkish rifles—proof that the Turkish losses have been extremely heavy.

These losses were sustained in terrific counter attacks delivered against the positions, which the allies had strongly fortified. The Turks came under the fire of the ships at the same time.

Allies' Losses Heavy.

The repulse of these counter attacks and the carrying out of attacks by the allies themselves have resulted in considerable losses on the allied side, to which must now be added the losses sustained by the sinking of the battleships Triumph and Majestic.

The Italians continue their offensive on the frontiers of the Tyrol and Trentino and Istria and have taken a chain of important positions, but they have not yet come into contact with the main Austrian forces, which are waiting for them behind entrenchments.

STORM DOES DAMAGE AT ELMO.

Wind Came 12 Years After Fatal One —Masonic Building Wall Falls.

Just within one day of twelve years after the storm or tornado which visited Elmo, resulting in five deaths in 1903, Elmo was again visited by a wind storm, as was other parts of the county, Wednesday, which did considerable damage to trees. The Elmo Register says the south wall of the Masonic building, which burned last winter and is being rebuilt, collapsed during the storm and that trees, telegraph and telephone poles and several small buildings were blown down or damaged.

A miniature tornado swept northwest of town, tearing trees down on the Fred James place and otherwise damaging property. A small barn was swept away at Earl Hopper's place.

Granville Peery has traded his 120-acre farm, four miles northeast of Elmo, for an 80-acre farm, about four miles west of Hopkins.

RIVERS OVERFLOW

NODAWAY, PLATTE AND 102 FLOOD LOWLANDS IN COUNTY.

NO DANGER APPARENT

Reports Upstream Indicate Crest Is Nearly Reached—Corn Damaged at Quitman—Over Road Here.

The crest of the rise in the various rivers of Nodaway county, appears to be nearly reached and little damage is reported anywhere except at Quitman, where some newly planted corn in the bottoms was washed out. No buildings are reported damaged nor anyone threatened. The 102 river east of Maryville at 2 o'clock this afternoon had overflowed the banks and was running several inches deep over the state road between the channel bridge and the steel bridge spanning the main channel.

It was still rising slowly but the absence of any more drift coming down indicated that the crest was nearly reached. At Pickering, the river was slightly out of its banks in some of the low places at 2 o'clock this afternoon. At Hopkins it was still rising at the same hour, and was stretching over the lowland to some width, but not very deep.

Last Night's Fall to Come.

Reports from the southern line of Iowa this morning, indicated that the flood waters were at a stand still and unless further rains came, a fall would begin tonight.

The Platte river is bank full and flooding some of the low lands, but only slightly, reports at 2 o'clock from Ravenwood, Conception Junction and Parnell, indicated. It was still rising slowly.

The Nodaway river was slightly more than bank full at Quitman and Burlington Junction this afternoon, but very shallow over the bottom land it had flooded. A slight rise was reported all morning.

The rain last night will likely raise the rivers slightly tonight through Nodaway county but not enough, it is believed, to bring about any appreciable damage.

Vital Statistics Show Nearly Double Number of Births First Quarter —Same Over State.

Statistics compiled for the first quarter of 1915, January, February and March, show that there were 173 births and 91 deaths in Nodaway county. The month of March showed the greatest number of deaths 36, with January 29, and February 26. In births by months January had 55, February 59, and March 59.

Pneumonia heads the list of causes of death for the quarter with 22, diseases of the nervous system next with 9, cancer 7, tuberculosis of the lungs 4, other diseases of respiratory system 3, diarrhoea and enteritis (under 2 years of age) 3, influenza 2, acute nephritis and Bright's disease 2, accidents 2, suicides 2, homicides 1, and one each for the puerperal state, diabetes, diptheria and croup, with 22 deaths from other causes.

Pneumonia heads the list of causes of death for the quarter with 2,047, tuberculosis next with 1,289, diseases of the heart and circulatory system 1,203.

There were 17,622 births reported as having occurred during the quarter, of which 9,083 were males and 8,592 were females, 17,081 of them being whites and 541 negroes. It will be noted that there were 6,536 more births than deaths during the quarter.

Township Assessors of County Meet Here Tomorrow to "Get Together" on Assessments.

A special meeting of the fifteen township assessors of Nodaway county will be held in the county court room of the court house beginning at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, to consider property assessments. Members of the county court also may attend the conference. It at least is Presiding Judge W. M. Blackford's intentions to meet with the assessors.

"The general purpose of the meeting," said E. E. Tilton, Polk township assessor this morning, "is to arrive at a definite basis on which to assess both personal and real estate property in the various townships. Some have a basis of about one-fourth and others of one-third, which makes it more liable to errors or indications of partiality."

It is not the purpose of the assessors to increase valuations, but merely to fix some standard by which to go this spring and summer when the assessments for the 1916 taxes are made.

The assessors in the various townships of Nodaway countyare: Atchison, George Benthene; Grant, Glen Mehaffey; Green, Henry O'Riley; Hopkins, Clyde Melvin; Hughes, George Greason; Independence, George Hepburn; Jackson, William F. Sawyer; Jefferson, John Martindale; Lincoln, M. E. Russell; Monroe, E. D. French; Nodaway, Holmes Yates; Polk, E. E. Tilton; Union, J. B. Loch; Washington, Scott Lemaster; White Cloud, Earl Vickery.

It is expected that all will attend except Mr. French of Skidmore, who has advised Mr. Tilton that business will detain him.

COUNTY TO SPEND LESS ON BRIDGES

BETWEEN $15,000 AND $18,000 AVAILABLE THIS YEAR.

BEGIN IMPROVEMENTS IN NORTH END, PLAN

One Construction Force Will Start in Union Township—Extra Gang to Washington.

Although the county court will have about $13,000 less this year to expend on bridge and culvert improvements over Nodaway county, than it had last year, when it spent approximately $30,000, it is the plan of the court members to divide this work over the county to do the most good, presiding Judge W. M. Blackford, said this morning. He said the court would have between $15,000 and $18,000 to spend on improvements, and still balance up next fall.

This will necessitate the curbing of expenses as much as possible and the inability of building many bridges and culverts even where needed. Most of the work to be done with the funds available will be in building new culverts. Few steel bridges will be constructed.

Unless the floods now raging in the three rivers of the county, take out some of the structures now spanning these streams, there will be no more river bridges built in Nodaway county this year, Judge Blackford said.

Start in Union Township.

Only one river structure was ordered in by the present court. That was between Clearmont and Elmo, over the Nodaway. No reports of bridges or culverts being destroyed by the present flood waters, have come to Judge Blackford. He expects one or more of the temporary wood structures across the Nodaway river drainage ditch to go, or at least to be damaged.

It is the plan of the county court as soon as the weather permits, to send one bridge construction force to the north part of the county to construct several culverts. The first will be a six-foot culvert one mile south of Pickering. The next will be two smaller culverts in the southwest part of Hopkins township.

Send Extra Force to Washington.

The construction force will then skip over to Independence township thence to Jackson township, and then to Jefferson township, Judge Blackford announced.

Another extra force of men will be sent direct to Washington township in the southeast corner of the county, to construct several bridges and culverts this summer. Those planned by the county court in that township are:

Over Turkey creek near the Wallace Moore farm, a 36-foot bridge.

A 20-foot bridge with twelve-foot approaches on each side over Clear Creek near the Pleasant View school.

East of the J. E. Ballard farm a 30-foot span with concrete backing over Turkey creek.

A concrete culvert, 4x4x24 feet.

A 25-foot span with a 12-foot approach on one side over Hickory creek, a mile east of the Whiteford school.

The county court will meet again, Monday, June 7, to consider bridge needs and to probably complete the county tour to inspect bridge needs.

Miss Winnifred Carpenter has returned from Bethany where she had been a teacher in the schools.

GIRL OF 15 WON ESSAY PRIZE.

Mildred Orr, Braymer, Who Won Contest Here, Praised for Essay.

The Kansas City Star in Thursday's issue had the following from Braymer: In the Northwest Missouri high school contest recently held at Maryville the gold medal for essays was won by Miss Mildred Orr, of this town, 15 years old, and a junior in the high school. She is the oldest of a family of five children. Her parents live on a rented farm, and since leaving the district school to attend high school in town she has worked for her board. From her first day in the district school she has never been tardy.

She won out over all pupils of Northwest Missouri, including the schools of St. Joseph, Trenton, Maryville and Chillicothe. Her essay was sent with the others to a committee of judges in Illinois and was judged on its merits. It has been criticized by teachers of long experience in such work who pronounce it of much merit and at the same time showing that it is the product of an immature mind and not written by the school faculty, as sometimes happens in these contests. The subject of her essay was "The Oneness of Interest Between Town and Rural Life."

Last year there were 13 graves of old soldiers in the Clearmont cemetery and one more has been added since then, that of A. M. Scott.

FOR M. U. FARM EXTENSION

Missouri Farmers Will Gain Much From the $150,072 Congress Appropriated.

With $150,072 available for extension work during the next two years, the College of Agriculture of the University of Missouri is beginning a campaign on the largest scale ever attempted in this state, to "take the college to the people, says the University Missourian.

The fund comes as a result of the Smith-Lever act fathered in the house of representatives by Representative Lever and in the senate by Senator Hoke Smith and signed by the President May 8, 1914. Each state receives $10,000 a year. In addition a sum is divided among the states on the basis of their relative rural population.

To receive this latter fund the state legislature must appropriate an equal amount. Missouri's share for the next two years was $65,036, and the legislature met the requirements. Before any of the Smith-Lever fund or any of the money appropriated by the state legislature to mee the requirements of the Smith-Lever act can be used, the plans of expenditure must be approved by the United States department of agriculture.

U. S. Wants to Know Details.

These plans are spoken of as "extension projects" and each project outlines in detail just how the work will be carried on, who will do the work, how much money will be used for salaries, for traveling expenses, for equipment, office supplies and so on.

The government of the United States will expend $23,120,000 during the next nine years in the advancement of agricultural interests. If Missouri's legislature continues to fulfill the conditions, the College of Agriculture will receive an increasing sum for extension work.

The agricultural extension service of the College of Agriculture has under consideration nine different projects. The carrying out of these projects will mean a big increase in the work of the extension department, which was organized June 8, 1914, with four men giving their entire time to the work.

Since that time eight extension workers have been added; two others have been appointed to begin work during the present summer and one other position is open. In addition to this number the agricultural extension service includes fifteen county agricultural agents (farm advisers), with one supervising.

Attention to Dairying.

Of the nine projects under consideration the development of dairying is to receive particular attention. This is in recognition of the fact that Missouri is passing through a stage of development in its agriculture which has characterized all of the states north and east—that is, a gradual changing from grain-raising to dairying. The working up of proper sentiment in order to make dairying acceptable to Missouri farmers is one of the first functions of the project.

The project of moveable schools of agriculture and home economics provides for a school of from two to five days' duration at any point in the state where interest is sufficient to justify the work.

In contrast to the plan pursued by some other states, the Missouri College of Agriculture proposes to send a small number of workers to lecture and demonstrate at the schools, permitting each to go thoroughly into a subject, rather than have a larger number barely touch on a number of topics.

By means of permanent community clubs practical demonstration will be given, so extension activities of various kinds can be carried on through the officers of these organizations. The plan proposes that there will be organized in each county three or more clubs. By this arrangement a relatively large number of people can be reached at little expense.

For Practical Demonstration.

A fourth project provides for practical demonstrations on farms, starting with phases of farm work in the community where special problems are to be solved and organizing the work in such a way that when the desired result is accomplished the entire community can be present on the farm where the work is in progress in order to see it at first hand.

Through the field insect control project, farmers will be instructed in control methods. Demonstrations will be given in the field whenever insect pests are at work and campaigns of instruction will be carried on in the sections of the state where surveys reveal the likelihood of later outbreaks.

In every community where the orchard interests justify the work, an orchard will be selected for demonstration purposes and at the proper season the farmers of the community who have orchards will be invited to come to receive instruction in proper methods of pruning and spraying.

Blue Prints Supplied.

The furnishing of blue prints, plans and specifications for farm buildings, and especially silos, constitutes a project developing from a demand for helping in building silos. As proposed, it is to include the building of water tanks, gates, fences and all kinds of farm construction.

The boys' and girls' club work department is devised to give instruction of farm boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 18 years along lines that will turn their attention to the farm and the home.

So widely has the swine industry developed in Missouri that a project for the eradication of hog cholera meets with particularly great favor because the work is immediately translatable into dollars and cents. A thorough system of education along this line is planned.

NEW GAME AND FISH LAWS.

County Clerk to Have Copies For Distribution to Public.

Jefferson City, May 28.—The new game and fish laws have been printed by State Game and Fish Commissioner Jesse B. Jones and have been sent out to the county clerks of the state for distribution to hunters and fishermen and other interested parties.

The first open season under the new law is for killing squirrels. This season opens next Tuesday, June 1st, and continues the remainder of the year. Hunters should take out their license this week and be prepared to hunt squirrels when the season opens. Reports received here are that the squirrels are plentiful. There is no closed season on rabbits but licenses are required to hunt them.

There are some important changes in the fish laws. Shooting of fish, hand, log or rock fishing are prohibited at all times. Gigging is permitted during certain months but no gigged fish can be sold. Fishing with ordinary hook and line, natural and artificial bait and trout line, is permitted at all times. Seigning with two-inch mesh seine is permitted in the Missouri and Mississippi rivers except during April and May. July, August and September are the months for landowners and those who get permission to seine unnavigable streams.

The short fish law is an important one. Hotels, restaurants and fish dealers are made liable under that law if they have any undersized fish in their possession. The penalty for selling such undersized fish is a fine of $10 to $200 and $1 for each undersized fish sold or had in possession for sale. Any fish caught can be eaten but the law fixes the length which certain fish must be to be sold.

One of the last bills passed by the sixty-third congress and signed by President Wilson fixed a standard barrel for fruits, vegetables and other dry commodities. It means an end to misunderstandings—the producer will know what he is selling and the consumer will know what he is buying. The standard barrel will contain 7,056 cubic inches.

Liverpool, May 28.—The American steamer Nebraskan, which was disabled Tuesday night by an explosion off the coast of Ireland, arrived here. The captain said:

"I saw no submarine, but am certain it was a torpedo which hit us.

"Moreover, a submarine could not have failed to see our name and nationality, which was outlined in huge letters on our sides."

The members of the crew of the Nebraskan were agreed that the explosion was undoubtedly caused by a torpedo. The forward part of the ship is completely wrecked.

ITALIANS AT MONFALCONE

Are Now Within Thirty Miles of Seaport of Trieste.

Geneva, May 28.—A strong Italian advance guard crossed the Isonzo river, after a sharp fight with an Austrian force, and arrived before the town of Monfalcone which is thirty miles from the Austrian seaport of Trieste. The first of the Austrian wounded are now arriving at the latter place.

The Italians also attacked at several points along the forty miles of Corinthian frontier. A battle between the Italians and Austrians is raging around Pioken and also west of the Praedil pass in Austria. In Adige the fighting has been limited to skirmishes. Italian forces which penetrated the Tyrol at Cardino and other Italian arms which captured Cormons have reconstructed the railway and are now marching on Corz the capital of the Austrian crownland of Goiz and Gradisca. Both the Austrian and Italian aviation spies are very active along the frontier.

German Official Report.

Berlin, May 28.—The German army headquarters issued the following statement: "Regardless of their great failures of May 25, the French repeated their attempts to break through our lines between Vermelle and the Lorette hills. Strong forces were brought forward for a storm attack along a narrow stretch of six miles, but the attacking force everywhere was repulsed. We are in full possession of our positions. An uncommonly large number of fallen Frenchmen are lying in front of our trenches. An air attack was successfully carried out by us on the fortifications at South End, on the lower Thames."

Something New in Town From "The Land of the Long Leaf Pine"

An "Outside" Treatment That Relieves Croup and Cold Troubles Quicker Than Internal Medicines—Applied Externally, It Is Inhaled as a Vapor and Absorbed Through the Skin.

Druggists Below Are Selling 25c. Jars on 30-Days' Trial—Money Back if Not Delighted.

Every year thousands of people, suffering from forms of lung trouble, make a pilgrimage to the pine barrens of North Carolina, "the land of the long leaf pine." The reason lies in the warm dry air, spicy with the odor of the long leaf pines.

Local druggists, however, have recently received a treatment that is almost as good as a trip South. This is Vick's "Vap-O-Rub" Salve, the invention of a North Carolina druggist. When applied over the throat and chest the body heat releases vapors of Menthol, Camphor, Pine Oil, Thyme, and Eucalyptus, that are inhaled with each breath through the air passages to the lungs, loosening the phlegm, and soothing the inflamed membrane. In severe cases, first apply hot wet towels to open the pores. Vick's is then absorbed through the skin, taking out that tightness and soreness.

The progressive druggists, listed below, are anxious that their customers who are troubled with asthma, catarrh, bronchitis, tonsilitis, or any form of cold trouble, should try this new treatment, though their profit on Vick's is smaller than on internal medicines. They are, therefore, offering Vick's in three sizes, 25c, 50c or $1.00, on 30 days' trial, giving with each sale a refund blank, good for your money back if you are not delighted.

CORN GROWING.

What A. R. Hills of Maryville Writes About How to Grow Corn.

A. R. Hills of Maryville issued his second letter on corn raising this week and sent it to his corn raising class, consisting of 80 boys and girls over the county. The following is what he writes:

It is now a very opportune time to begin the real study of the corn plant.

In the majority of fields of Nodaway county the young plants are probably a finger length high and exposed to view are three blades, with roots to correspond, being about fourteen inches in length.

One skilled in the science of botany would observe the endogenous manner of growing, the shape of the blades, with their parallel veins, the fibrous root growth, and at once decide to put the plant in the family of grasses.

It is not my intention to write of the plant from a botanical standpoint but to speak of it in a practical sort of a way for the benefit of the young corn raiser.

Nowadays the successful business man must know all the minor details of his business in order to succeed.

The machinist or engineer must know every identical piece and where it belongs of the machine in his care in order to be called a successful handler of the same.

So it is with the farmer. We observe lands and rents getting higher and higher, so a single false step, although it does not seriously affect the one making it, just the same it affects others, as the farmer feeds them all. A loss through ignorance, though small, in the aggregate throughout the county would be stupendous.

Many of us learn to finger the organ, but when you tear the instrument apart and observe the manufacturer's contrivances to give the tones, pitch, power or cadence, you can then at once see why you have been failing to give the music expression or feeling.

So it is in the study of the corn plant. We should begin at the ground (or rather at the furrow bottom) and study to the tassel point. Now we are in the habit of calling the entire heart of the grain the germ or embryo, but in reality the embryo is a little tiny spot at the base of the heart from which growth originates, all other of the grain is but feed for the young plantlets.

If we would examine corn (the weather being favorable) the second day after planting, we probably find the skin raised just a little over the heart and the point of the grain a little blunter than before, then again on the third or fourth day we may expect to see two or three roots a half inch long or more, having broken from the point of the grain and started downward at an angle, at the same time the sprout having pushed forward, bursting the skin and is even with the crown of the grain. Then we find on the fifth or sixth day that another bunch of roots have burst from the point of the grain and started off in a parallel direction from the point of the grain, generally back from the heart or face of the grain, meantime the sprout has increased materially in size and length, and will make its appearance on the surface on the seventh or eighth day. After this the plants having roots in the damp soil and a sprout in the air and sunshine will grow very rapidly, soon having three leaves or blades.

The plant is now in good condition to study the underground part. We readily see that the plant by nature is calculated to have three joints under ground, the lower one being tapered to a point at the bottom, with a few roots from the extreme point. Now watching these roots we find them to be calculated to merely anchor the plant safely to the ground till the other gets a hold. So these roots are called primary roots and as their usefulness is soon over they die. Now we have three joints, practically speaking, below the surface, from which a great many roots may spring which grow very rapidly. Seek the bottom of the furrow pan and cling to it very tenaciously, growing similar to the ivy that scales the wall. By the time the corn is knee high we expect the roots to reach over to the third row, or twelve feet. These roots just spoken of are called secondary roots, and seem to make it their work to produce just the stalk, not including the ear. If the air is cool and the days cloudy the stalk does not make much progress, but these roots continue their rampant growing, and not being satisfied with the dwarf stalk above they soon force out suckers to keep the proper balance. These suckers grow according to the weather and the food supply and at earing time oftime exceed the parent stalk in size. There not being a food supply or water sufficient, all produce nubbins or no grain at all. To obviate this condition one should plow corn up to the time it is knee high as deeply as possible, using long pointed shovels so as to destroy the effect of these roots, as grain is what we want in place of fodder. The principle is the same as a fruit tree growing of very fertile soil, it grows so rank, the wood does not mature so as to produce fruit buds, so we go about to cripple the tree by cutting the roots or pruning in the month of June. The plan of nature seems to be when any thing is crippled unto death it shall go about the work of reproducing itself rapidly. Making use of this principle the writer has grown large yields of corn without a single barren stalk.

I do not wish to be misunderstood that root pruning should be practiced after the corn is 20 inches high, but the contrary, we should use surface working tools so as to cover the first and second joints. This insures darkness and moisture about the joints so they send out many roots, that spread through the mulch previously made, which is in fine condition to produce the ear, the soil, feed, and rain are ample and favorable for these surface roots we may expect a bumper crop. I wish you to watch your corn closely and write me about the same, or call and tell me as some are doing. At the end of the season I shall send you a blank asking 161 questions. Now if you study well you can answer most of them.

LETTER TO MR. J. K. SAWYERS.
Maryville, Mo.

Dear Sir: Thomas J. Bannon, druggist, Westerly, R. I., says:

Westerly painters expect a gallon of paint to cover 19 sets of blinds; Devoe covers 25; there is no such thing as rubbing this out.

(The usual reckoning is for a gallon to cover 16. We suspect the Westerly people don't wear their paint till it gets very shabby.)

Devoe covers more; of course, we know that; we know why too; it's all paint and full-measure.

Yours truly

After 50 Years.

On Friday of last week our County Court was in session at Oregon to receive, open, examine and award the contracts to the successful bidders for the various bridges and concrete culverts, advertised by County Surveyor Peret, to be "let" on that day. Presiding Judge, W. M. Blackford of Nodaway county, was also here and met with our judges. D. C. Stallard, our presiding judge, after he had received an introduction to Judge Blackford, thought the name very familiar, and after comparing notes they both discovered that more than 50 years ago they were boys together, and had attended the same school, played "hookey," marbles, "Bull Pen," and many other pranks in Braddyville, Iowa, and this was their first meeting in over a half century. They certainly did enjoy themselves talking over their boyhood days.—Holt County Sentinel.

KNOW THE TROUBLE.

The aim of the thoughtful physician—one who endeavors to find every possible help in the treatment of the sick will be to make sure he KNOWS THE TROUBLE and then to use the treatment to overcome it.

A proper and positive diagnosis is the principal thing for a physician to know. He must not grope in the dark, if he expects to succeed in his efforts.

Dr. Prettyman, the specialist in Chronic and Nervous Diseases, claims that his experience is such that he can find out the exact trouble and knowing that, can tell what can be done.

You can consult Dr. Prettyman at the Linville Hotel, Monday, May 31.

TURK TORPEDO SINKS MAJESTIC

Another British Battleship Lost In the Dardanelles.

PRINCESS IRENE DESTROYED.

English Steamer In Government Service Accidentally Blown Up In Sheerness Harbor and 327 Men Perish—One Survivor Is Picked Up.

London, May 28.—The torpedoing and sinking of the British battleship Majestic is announced by the admiralty in the following statement:

"An enemy submarine torpedoed and sank H. M. S. Majestic, Captain H. F. Talbot, while it was supporting the army on the Gallipoli peninsula. Nearly all officers and men saved."

The battleship Majestic was a vessel of 14,900 tons. Its officers and crew aggregated 757.

The Majestic, which was built in 1895, carried four twelve-inch, twelve six-inch and sixteen three-inch guns and twelve three-pounder guns.

The sinking of the Majestic makes the fifth British battleship lost in the Dardanelles campaign and the second by a hostile submarine. The French also have lost one battleship in the Turkish campaign—the Bouvet.

Princess Irene Blown Up.

All the crew of 250 men of the British steamer Princess Irene, except one man, and, in addition, seventy-eight dockers, who were at work on board the steamer, lost their lives when the vessel was blown up by an accidental explosion on board in Sheerness harbor on the Thames. The steamer was in the government service. Several men belonging to vessels lying close to the Princess Irene were wounded by falling splinters.

BECKER WOULD CONFESS

What He May Say About Men Higher Up Will Not Save Him.

New York, May 28.—No possible disclosures of police corruption or revelations of the identity of the man or men higher up in the division of money paid for police protection, no plea Charles Becker can make will save him from the electric chair, if District Attorney Perkins can prevent it, according to announcement made by Mr. Perkins.

In making his announcement Mr. Perkins took official cognizance of a current rumor that Becker, facing death for causing the murder of Herman Rosenthal, was willing to confess all he knows if his life should be spared. Becker's execution is set for the week of July 12.

No appeal for clemency can be made in any case of one properly convicted of murder in the first degree, because of any assistance he might render to the authorities in the prosecution of offenses of a much lower grade, Mr. Perkins said.

BIG BATTLE IN MEXICO

Thousands Killed In Fighting Near Leon—Front Fifteen Miles Long.

Leon, Mex., May 28.—A battle front fifteen miles long, eighty cannon, and 50,000 men charging and counter charging across a plain strewn with dead and wounded. That is the present meeting of Generals Villa and Obregon here in the once peaceful valley of the Rio de Leon.

Both sides have lost heavily in dead and wounded. There is no means of computing the losses other than to say that they extend into the thousands. The opposing factions have each gained and lost advantages. The tide of victory is still flowing back and forth across the battlefield. There has been nothing decisive for either side.

SHELLS ARE RAINED UPON TURKISH TROOPS

Allies Take Gallipoli Positions at Point of Bayonet.

Paris, May 28.—A dispatch from Athens says the action of the allies against the Turkish positions in the Dardanelles straits is continuing vigorously. Reinforcements are constantly being brought up. The Turks appear to be terrorized by the incessant renewal of the attacks. These indicate to them the absolute determination of the allies to force the straits. From time to time the British and French artillery throw a veritable hail of shells on the Turks.

Another message from Athens says the allied forces are continuing their advance on the Gallipoli peninsula. As a result of a bayonet attack they have occupied important positions, where they are now strongly entrenched. The losses of the Turks have been heavy. The aeroplane squadron of the allies is rendering splendid service. The fleet is continuing its bombardment of the Turkish positions night and day.

ISSUES GOOD ROAD EDICT

Governor Asks County Courts to Set Aside June 15 and 16 for Highway Improvements.

Whereas, the public highways of the state constitute the first link in the chain of transportation; and, whereas, no other internal improvement means so much to the state, the nation and the people; and, whereas, Missouri is and has been leading the way upon this important question, and has more good roads spirit than any state in the union; and, whereas, the two "Good Roads Days" designated in 1913 and 1914 were of great benefit not only to the commonwealth of Missouri, but to the entire country, creating a universal sentiment for the improvement of highways; and, whereas, a large number of the states, observing the benefits we derived from the "Good Roads Days" in Missouri, have followed the example; and, whereas, every citizen and business is directly interested in road construction and betterments:

Now, therefore, I, Elliott W. Major, governor of the state of Missouri, do hereby set apart Tuesday and Wednesday, June 15 and 16, 1915, for road work in the state of Missouri, and designate these two days as "Good Roads Days," and declare same to be holidays and request that all other business be suspended as far as possible, and that every able-bodied citizen labor upon the public highways of the state during these two days, and that the work done be such as will make a lasting and permanent improvement, such as road grading, culvert building, ditching, gravelling, dragging, etc.

I respectfully call upon the county court of each county to issue a proclamation such as was issued last year calling upon the people to come out with proper teams, equipments and materials and labor and see to it that the be given and benefits received in every county is well organized, so work will neighborhood, and the same conducted in a systematic and business-like way, to the end that every section of the commonwealth may be the recipient of actual road betterments.

Asks Women to Cook.

Again, I call upon the city and country press to assist in organizing the work and in bringing to the roads another army of labor volunteers, such as came forth last year. The press contributed, in a great measure, to the success of the work, and the state is indebted to it for the enthusiastic and earnest support given and as chief executive, I desire to recognize the aid given by both the city and country press in this official proclamation. I also call upon the road overseers, federated and all other road organizations, automobile clubs and associations and all commercial and booster clubs to aid the state and the highway department to again carry forward to a great success, the "Good Roads Days."

I request the women of Missouri to again prepare dinners and see that the laborers are served upon the highways. They contributed muc hto the success of the work last year, realizing the fact that better roads would bring a better community life and more pleasure to the women who have cast their fortunes in the homes of rural Missouri.

Let every citizen be earnest, enthusiastic and systematic in going about the preparation for work upon these days. No matter whether the work be done upon high-grade roads or upon dirt roads, let it be a permanent improvement. The great majority of the work will be done upon the dirt roads, which, after all, are the real highways of commerce. This is true because the dirt roads represent the first leg of the journey over which moves the traffic of the state.

The road enabling the producer to bring more products to the first markets of the country; the road that will save hundreds of thousands of dollars in shrinkage in the delivery of live stock; the road that will lessen that part of the cost of transportation which begins at the producer's door; the road every tendency of which is to improve community life and make it better morally, civilly and commercially.

Let us, therefore, labor upon the high-grade roads, and upon the improved and unimproved dirt roads, to the end that no material or energy be lost, and the benefits given to a single unit in highway traffic. Missouri is leading the way in this great internal improvement and upon which must rest, in the final analysis, the success of every business of the country. Good roads will bring better schools, better agriculture, better community life, better commerce, and a better civilization.

ELLIOTT W. MAJOR,
Governor.

MILITIA MUST PAY LOSSES.

Officers Will Be Held Responsible for Missing Government Property.

To put an end to the loss and damage of rifles and other government property issued to the state militias, Secretary Garrison has directed that hereafter all amounts for such losses be deducted from the pay of responsible officers and enlisted men.

This action became necessary because of the increasing loss of federal property and the failure of militiamen properly to care for the equipment. The law provides that all government property issued to the organized militia remains "the property of the United States" and must be annually "accounted for by the governor of the state."

Don't Hide Them With a Veil; Remove Them With the Othine Prescription.

This prescription for the removal of freckles was written by a prominent physician and is usually so successful in removing freckles and giving a clear, beautiful complexion that it is sold by druggists under guarantee to refund the money if it fails.

Don't hide your freckles under a veil; get an ounce of othine and remove them. Even the first few applications should show a wonderful improvement, some of the lighter freckles vanishing entirely.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength othine; it is this that is sold on the money-back guarantee.

To Poison Cutworms.

The cutworm will get your garden truck if you don't watch out, says A. G. Ruggles of the Minnesota Experiment station.

A slightly different formula from the old-fashioned poisoned bran mash was found very effective against grasshoppers in Kansas in 1912. In 1914 this mixture was very successfully used against crickets, army worms and cutworms.

The formula for the Kansas mixture is as follows: Bran, 1 pound; paris green, 1 ounce; syrup, ¼ pint, orange or lemon, ¼ ounce; water, 1½ pints.

Mix the bran and Paris green separately while dry. Squeeze the juice of the orange or lemon into the water, grating the peeling and pulp, and adding this also to the water. Dissolve the syrup in this mixture and wet the poisoned bran, stirring thoroughly. This mash is scattered around the infested areas.
